

... to OPEN's Networking Event of 2004.

You're Invited...

What Counts as Scientific Evidence?
Implications for Evaluation ...

March 31st, 2004
Noon – 1:30 pm

Portland State University
Smith Memorial Center (SMC)
Second Floor, Room 229
1825 SW Broadway (between Harrison & Montgomery)

Campus Map: <http://www.pdx.edu/campus/>

Driving Directions: <http://www.pdx.edu/campus/directions/>

Alternatives to Driving: <http://www.aux.pdx.edu/transport/alternative.php>

This networking event will include a facilitated discussion between evaluators new to the field and seasoned veterans of evaluation. Exploring the topic of “What Counts as Scientific Evidence”, participants will reflect upon the methodological, professional and ethical implications of shifting definitions of ‘science’ and ‘evidence’. Please be prepared to discuss the implications of how this topic affects evaluation and your work.

Light refreshments provided ... bring your lunch and business cards!